Our Edmonton Letter

(By T. B. Windross)

Edmonton, Alta.—That an election is in the offing though nobody wants one is the general opinion in Edmonton, according to political commentators here. Everything seems to point to a vote for the purpose of clearing up the present confusing situation in the legislature.

One experienced observer in the capital this week-end predicted that Premier Aberhart would find it impossible to carry on at the head of a government so divided when the legislature reopens on June 7. But another declared it as his opinion that the Social Credit "Actives" would not drive things far enough to compel the lieutenant-governor to prorogue the house and call for an election. This observer declared it his opinion that the "Actives" will be well satisfied if they can force Premier Aberhart out of the leadership and name another Social Creditor to take his place.

The controversy between the premier and former members of his cabinet has taken on a new phase with the retirement of Hon. W. N. Chant from the Ministry of Agriculture. That the premier has another critic to contend with now was shown when Mr. Chant published his statement of defence during the week. The former minister denied his administration of the department of agriculture had been either inefficient or unaggressive. Grave charges against the premier were included in Mr. Chant's statement, among them that he had refused to accede to the premier's demand that several tried and capable members of the civil service should be dismissed. Mr. Chant declared he had refused to accede to the premier's demand because to do so would be an injustice to tried and honorable civil servants.

Following Mr. Chant's forcible, or compulsory ejection by order-in-council from the cabinet, D. B. Mulheg was sworn in as minister and color is given to Mr. Chant's charges by the retirement a few days later of S. G. Carlisle, livestock commissioner for 22 years in the department. It is true, however, that Mr. Carlisle had reached the age for superannuation and the explanation published by Mr. Mullen for his retirement was that "he was being retired on superannuation pay."

Mr. Carlisle is a brother of Professor Carlisle who has managed the EP Ranch at High River since it was first acquired by H.R.H. The Duke of Windsor. He is a capable and widely experienced livestock expert and has been responsible for much advantageous advancement in the livestock branch of the government during his term of office there is the general impression of opinion in Edmonton.

No appointment has been made to fill Mr. Carlisle's place up to the time of writing this newsletter, but several names are being mentioned among the likely appointees. Among the names mentioned is W. C. Morrison, who has been in close contact with Mr. Mullen for some months. He is an experienced livestock man. It is likely an appointment will be made soon.

No word has been received yet from Glen MacLachlan M.L.A. as to his success or failure in persuading Major Douglas to come to Alberta and guide the government in implementing Social Credit. Mr. MacLachlan has been in London now for some days and word is expected from him at an early date.

W. I. MEETING

The W. I. met at the home of Mrs. Wm. Paris at a Banquet in honor of their 25th Anniversary. A very delicious dinner was served, covers being laid for 14 members. The table being decorated in Pink and Green. Some "O'Canada", Grace being said by Mrs. Walter Zebell.

Roll call answered by current events on Institute work. Minutes read, and business discussed. Mrs. Wm. Paris and Mrs. Jack Miller elected to attend the Convention being held in Calgary on May 24th.

A short story was given by Mrs. Amanda Neilson.

Jokes by Mrs. A. W. Kirkham and a song by Mrs. Earl Scoville.

There were 6 presidents of the Institute present at the meeting also 7 charter members all active.

Poem in honor of the W. I. Anniversary composed and given by Mrs. James Fisher.

Meeting adjourned after singing "God Save the King."

Door prize given by Mrs. Fisher was won by Mrs. Will Lamb. Next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. James Fisher on June 10th.

STATION CHANGES HANDS

A change in management of the Farmco Service Station occurred this week, when J. F. Elder sold his interest in the business to the Red Head Petroleum owners, known as Great West Distributors, and Fred M. Smith, who operated the Red Head Station in Cardston last year leased the place and is now installed as Manager.

Mr. Elder has other business interests which made it impossible for him to devote the necessary time to the oil business, and he was forced to make the change. As noted in the ad. regarding the change, he leaves the business with best wishes for the new manager, and the hope that all old customers, and many new ones will patronize the Station. "Joe's" other interests will likely take him away from town a great deal in the near future.

There are strong indications that the government's budget, over which the insurgent criticism of the government began in the legislature during the session recently, has not been materially altered for presentation to the session when it reconvenes on June 7. There has not been time to make any vital changes and Hon. Solon Low has been away part of the time since the adjournment in Ottawa.

Should there not be some change in the taxation details of the budget when it reappears, there is likely to be a storm blowing on the floor of the house again. One commentator near to the government declared today that the premier thinks his position is now strong enough to enable him to force the fiscal measure through the house despite opposition. But insurgent members are still strong in declaring they will wreck the cabinet, but not the party if any attempt is made to foist a non-Social Credit budget on them.

And there the matter rests for the present with the split still gaping open in the party ranks and nobody able to clearly predict what the conclusion of the matter will be.

Coronation Day Is Celebrated Here

The weather man was certainly on his good behavior for Coronation Day Wednesday. The sun shone brightly and warm, with a light breeze, and was decidedly pleasant. It was the hottest day of the spring, and many were greasing sunburned arms, necks and faces that evening. Raymond people were free to seek their own entertainment during the day, and golfing, motoring, listening to the Coronation proceedings, and so on, occupied the time. At 8 p.m. a meeting and program was held in the Stake House, taken charge of by Paul H. Redd, and the following program was carried out.

"Coronation March" played by Mrs. Emma Dahl.

Singing "God Save the King" Choir and Congregation, conducted by W. C. Stone.

Invocation by ex-pres. H. S. Allen.

Patriotic Reading — Lonene Heninger.

"Kiplings Recessional" read and commented on by Lee Brewerton.

"The Recessional" by the Choir, solo by Jos. McLean.

"Ode to Canada"—Miss Mildred Boyson.

Fine Mother's Day Program

A very interesting Mother's Day program was held in the Raymond Second Ward last Sunday evening, when the main part of the program was under the direction of the Relief Society. Bishop Walker had charge of the opening exercises, and the Sacrament, & called on Sam Dyson for a five minute talk on the subject of "Titling."

Wilford Heninger, a member of the Bishopric gave a very interesting talk on "Mother" and referred to the tributes that the great men have paid their mothers. He asked for a silence in respect of Mother.

"Chorus "Mother and Home" by the Singing Mothers, words by S. B. Smith.

A beautiful tableau "Mothers of Men" was presented, showing characters from Eve to the present day. Among those taking part were: Mesdames Arthur Dahl, Ben Kenney, Elmer Spackman, Ed. Hawk, John Larson, Scott Salmon, Arthur Garner and Rulon Dahl. Lou King was reader for this act.

Then a tableau, "Great Mothers;" "A Canadian Mother" Mrs. Henry Gibb and infant child. Singing by the Congregation of "O Canada."

"Mother Machree" sang by Jos. McLean with his mother in a chair on the stage.

Mrs. Elsie M. Stevenson sat in a chair draped in the colors, and surrounded by Boy Scouts.

A Tribute to all Mothers by the audience standing in silence and Mrs. T. O. King standing on the stage.

Singing and prayer concluded the meeting which was greatly enjoyed by all present.

SENTENCE STIMULANTS

What's the difference between selling nations more arms than they can possibly need, before they start fighting and keeping them supplied as they need arms after war is declared?

Life may be sucking you with trouble just to see if you will fight. When it finds out you will, someone else may be due for a testing.

The Public School Chorus sang two numbers, directed by Miss Velma Nalder.

"Gentlemen, the King," Reading by Bud Brewerton.

"Canada and the Empire,"—Lyman Jacobs.

"Pilgrim's Chorus" by the Choir.

Brief Remarks by the Mayor. Thanks and appreciation to those attending and taking part by the Chairman.

"O Canada" by the Choir and Congregation.

O. H. Snow and I. B. Roberts then distributed Coronation pins to all school children present, these having been purchased by the Town as souvenirs for the kiddies of the first Coronation in their lives, and the last for some of them and most of the older ones, barring unexpected happenings.

The Boy Scouts then lighted their beacon fire on Temple Hill which was visible for miles, and prior to the lighting of the fire, a display of fireworks also took place on the hill.

A dance in the Opera House, sponsored by the Vets, and largely attended was the closing act in the day's observance of the Coronation of Britain's King and Queen.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Smith and family have moved into the living quarters of the Farmco Service Station, which business Fred is operating now.

Excellent progress is being made in the plastering of the Second Ward Chapel part of the building, and Bishop Walker informs us that seats similar to the ones in the Stake House will be installed here.

The lawns and shrubs, with some spruce and pine trees have been planted on the 2nd Ward grounds, and this will certainly be a beauty spot when these things commence to grow and bloom.

Because of the Coronation Day proceedings Wednesday, no Temple sessions were held Wednesday morning. Sessions were held in the afternoon however and also on Thursday and Friday.

Town Council Meeting

Funeral Services For Joseph Compton

Funeral services over the remains of Joseph Compton, who passed away at 7 p.m. Sunday evening, were held in the Second Ward Chapel Tuesday afternoon at 2 p.m., with Bishop Walker in charge.

Speakers at the services were J. W. Evans, P. T. Christensen and Bishop Walker, all of whom spoke of their appreciation of the quiet manner of deceased, and of his kindly and neighborly nature.

The opening prayer was by Elder J. U. Allred, closing prayer by Patriarch O. H. Snow and the grave was dedicated by Elder C. Wm. Selman.

Musical numbers were "I Know that My Redeemer Lives," Mrs. H. F. Allen singing the solo, and the Choir the Chorus; "Sometime We'll Understand," and a solo "My Task" by Mrs. Blanche Scoville.

Interment was in the local cemetery Bishop Walker in charge.

Deceased was a man of retiring and quiet disposition. A retired farmer, he had occupied his later years in gardening on his lot in town. When in good health he was a hard worker and a very successful farmer, and took a great deal of pride in his farm and its appearance.

Number of years age he had a nervous breakdown, and since then he has not had much control of his arms and legs, and it was with great difficulty that he was able to carry on at all.

His many friends extend their sympathy to his wife, daughter Margaret, and small grand daughter in the loss of husband and father.

You can depend on the products of advertised firms and businesses. They value their reputation too highly to take chances on inferior goods.

A large culvert got plugged Thursday night, and the north-east corner of town was well watered when residents awoke Friday morning. No damage was done.

NEWLYWEDS TO LIVE AT KEVIN, MONTANA

A quiet but impressive wedding ceremony was performed at the home of J. C. Nelson, presiding Elder of the Latter Day Saint church at Great Falls, Montana, Thursday, May 6 at 1:25 p.m. united Wyora Hawkins, daughter of Mr. James Hawkins and Alvin Cecil Phipps of Kevin, Montana, in marriage. Elder Nelson in performing the ceremony, read the beautiful chapters 21 to 23 in Genesis.

The bride wore a rust wool ensemble with brown accessories, and a corsage of Talisman roses. She was attended by her sister Gwendolyn, who wore a wine crepe afternoon dress, with a corsage of Talisman roses. Mr. Jollis Baker of Sweet Grass supported the groom. Mrs. Baker, Mrs. J. C. Nelson and Mr. Merrill also witnessed the ceremony. Following the wedding a dinner was served.

Previous to her marriage Mrs. Phipps was employed at the Canadian sugar refinery. She is a member of the L.D.S. second ward choir and a prominent church worker.

Mr. Phipps is employed with an oil drilling company at Kevin, Montana, where they will make their home. The Raymond community extends them the best of well-wishes.—Leta. Herald

Regular Town Council meeting was held Thursday night with all members of the Council Solicitor Ostlund, Sec. Snow Sam Dyson and Ed. Hawk present. Minutes of the last meeting and the Cash report were presented and accepted.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fairbanks were present asking the Council to assist them in redeeming their home which had been sold several years ago for taxes. As the purchaser of the property was willing that redemption be made, the Council voted in favor of it, an undertaking being entered into between the Town and Mr. Fairbanks for the property to remain in the name of the Town until the tax arrears, were all paid up.

Archie Terry reported a bad mud hole near his home because of irrigation water and the Works and Property Committee was asked to investigate. Roy Anderson was present regarding the Town land at the Park for the Scouts, and the Council after considerable discussion decided to let them have it.

The watering of lawns was discussed, and the Council decided to have the $5 fee as last year, to put a card or some identification on the residence of each citizen who paid this fee with the hours for watering on it. Hours will be west of Broadway 5 to 8 a.m., east of Broadway 6 to 9 p.m. These hours will be adhered to and offenders will be prosecuted. The Engineer reported several who had turned their taps on again after employees of the Town had turned them off for non-payment. The Council ordered warrants for their arrest to be sworn out and prosecution to be proceeded with.

The stray stock on the streets was discussed and the Constable instructed to keep the Town clean in this matter even if he had to have extra help at times to do it. The farm land near the cemetery was discussed and Councilor Bennett was asked to act for the Town in getting a renter for it and seeing that it was cleaned up and kept clean.

Because of the uncertain conditions the reservoir question was tabled for the present. Councilors Roberts and Court reported on some property they had been asked to inspect with respect to assessment, and they recommended that the assessment stand for this year at least. The payroll was passed and ordered paid, and the meeting adjourned at 1 a.m.

Pansies and a few early blooming bulbs are adorning front yards and flower gardens now, and help greatly to brighten the landscape.

! * ! * ! * ! Irrigation water is being used in abundance. Judging by the lack of pressure in the Town mains a great many garden hose are being used also to water lawns and gardens.

GAINING BY GIVING

Retention makes for tension. Tension makes for nerve and bodily disorders of many types. A person who is out to make the most of his life will have the long range view of what he will think of the program he followed when, nearing the end of the trail, he looks back.

We are being told by life experts of many kinds that he will not only be glad that he eliminated the crowding tumor of avarice but also that he learned to give of himself to others.

One of the most poignant regrets is to have lost friends who might have been held in awe of where true friendships are so rare. To make and hold friends one must be willing to give of himself. Friendship is something which grows from the fusion of kindred souls.

Many folks have been accredited smart who lacked the ability, the self-control, the generosity to win friends.

We want our children to be happy. Durable happiness and abiding satisfactions come from true friendships. Whether or not we send our children to college, let us see that they learn the art of being gracious, interested in others' ideas, plans, in others' welfare. In short let us teach them the simple, generous technique of being friendly.

By being generous, gracious, thoughtful and kind to others they may occasionally be taken in by the weasel minded, the hard and unscrupulous. But by failing in these arts of friendliness they will be taken in by the arch-enemy of happiness, self-centered loneliness.

When the churches have taught us to be generous of our time, talent and substance they have not been advocating a theory for their own self preservation. They have been giving us a way of life which if followed will save us from ingrown selfishness, impoverished aloofness, and possible insanity.

The psychiatrists who today are so successful in bringing people back from the shadowy borderlands of utter mental confusion begin by getting the patient to thinking of others.

He who understood humanity says when he said, "Seek first the Kingdom of God and his righteousness and all necessary things will be added."

The out-going, out-giving life is not only saved FROM dire things. Being saved TO service such a life becomes attractive to others who are attracted to the interests of the sharing one. Of course like many things else this can be overdone. There are those who share of their substance until they are dependent. They are not unlike an over-ripe fruit.

Furthermore, he who gives in order to gain seems to have short-circuited the current of supply. There is something practical about not letting the left hand know.

But he who gains that he may give, he indeed has learned to live. And to him that hath friendliness, graciousness, thoughtfulness to help shall be given more of the worthwhile values of life.

Robert Louis Stevenson revealed how well he had learned life when he wrote: "So long as we love to serve. So long as we are loved by others I would almost say we are indispensable and no man is useless while he has a friend."

VACATION WITH PAY REMIND US

The General Electric company has permitted the news to be broadcasted that this year it will give all employees who have been with the company a year or more a week's vacation with pay. Those who have a record of ten years or more of service will be given two weeks.

To Americans, this voluntary consideration of its employees on the part of a great corporation is much more interesting than the announcement that government controlled industries in Russia will send workers to vacation spots.

Cash in hand, with freedom of choice as to vacation lands, is what America likes.

But this move on the part of a big industry, similar to action as a matter of long time policy with many stores and smaller concerns, reminds us of something important, namely

Never since the dawn of civilization has there been so much thought on the part of those well off, for the less well off.

We may not like some details about Russia's, Italy's or Germany's government. But fundamentally they are aiming at the same thing. They are striving to raise living standards to the American levels where fourteen million of our 27,000,000 homes are owned by the people who live in them.

Of course it will be a long time before the laboring peoples of any nation enjoy the luxuries, including a car for every five people, as in the United States.

THE FINAL STOP

You need 40 feet to stop your car at 20 miles an hour; 73 feet at 30 miles and 115 feet at 40 miles. At 50 miles you will need 166 feet—and if you keep on climbing to speed eventually you will need only "Five or six feet" depending upon your height. Moreover, then, you will be stopped for good.

GUARDIAN OF CANADIAN HOMES

WANT A GOOD LAWN? HERE'S HOW TO GET IT

Just as soon as the soil is dry and firm enough to walk upon after the snow has disappeared is the time to commence operations for ensuring a good lawn. The first thing to do is to remove all the dead grass by giving the lawn a thorough raking and attention should be directed to fixing up the bare patches by sowing fresh seed. The seed should be broadcast evenly on the bare patches after they have been raked to the depth of two inches. The seed should then be covered lightly with a sprinkling of sifted soil and packed down firmly. The patches should be kept moist, but not flooded, for at least two weeks through the application of a fine spray.

Fertilizer is necessary for the lawn and should be applied just as soon as the raking and seeding have been done; and as soon as the fertilizer has been applied it should be well watered in, care being taken to use a fine spray, so that the seed is not disturbed in the newly seeded areas. When the time for cutting arrives, which is as soon as the grass is long enough to allow the mower to function properly regularly in the process should be observed, and it is a mistake to allow the grass to grow over two inches at any time.

Reliable grass mixtures may be obtained from seedmen but for those people who wish to mix their own, L. C. Young of the Dominion Experimental Farm at Fredericton who, as a Canadian authority on grasses, has lectured on home lawns in the United States, recommends for the average lawn a mixture of four parts Kentucky Blue grass and one part Red Top at the rate of three to four pounds per 1,000 square feet of lawn. If it is desired to include White Clover, one-eighth part should be added to the mixture. Where the above mixture does not give satisfactory results owing to local conditions, Rhode Island Bent grass should be used at the rate of two to three pounds per 1,000 square feet. For shady areas, one-third the quantity of Rough-Stalked Meadow grass should be added. Failure to grow grass in shady places is due more often to conditions of low fertility and lack of moisture than to the shade itself.

"Is ink so very expensive, father?"

"No, dear, what makes you think so?"

"Well, mother seems quite disturbed because I spilled some on the hall carpet."

HOG and BACON TRADE IN 1936

The Seventeenth Annual Market Review, 1936, which examines Canada's domestic and foreign trade in livestock & meats, as well as Canada's output of livestock by counties, has just been published by the Dominion Department of Agriculture, and states that the outstanding features of the 1936 hog market were a tremendous increase in volume constituting a new record in total sales, and an advance in quality to the highest peak yet attained. Associated with this increase in volume and quality as a natural outcome, there was a sharp expansion in exports of hams and hams to the United Kingdom, showing the best type, pack, and quality in exports in the history of the Canadian hog industry.

Another highlight in the market of 1936 states the Review, was the substantial demand for Canadian hogs by the United States. While the volume exported was relatively small, it was, during the greater part of the year, no mean factor in the making of prices at Canadian stock yards and country points.

Approximately 3,797,000 hogs in Canada in 1936 were moved through yards direct to plants and direct on export, and it is interesting to note that of the total sales approximately half a million head were sold on a dress basis, as compared with 115,000 in 1935 and 3,600 in 1934. The total volume represented a new peak for the Dominion, and it was unfortunate for the producers that, while the expansion came at the most opportune time in meeting the Canadian quota in the United Kingdom market, it coincided with one of the poorest field crop years in the history of the country. However a large part of the year's supply of hogs was finished on the old grain crop, and, at the prevailing prices, maintained the profitable outcome such as has been associated with the industry during the past two or three years.

Prof. Barnhart Believes In Paper Advertising

"Newspaper advertising builds confidence and good will, attracts new customers, increases sales, and stabilizes merchandise, methods and prices." So says Prof. Thomas F. Barnhart of the University of Minnesota.

He has given the matter considerable thought. From his experience and observations he has come to 14 definite conclusions.

1. Newspaper reading is a universal habit. Newspaper advertising therefore, reaches virtually all who read and buy.
2. A newspaper advertisement can always be seen by the reader.
3. The newspaper advertisement, as part of the complete paper, goes into the home as a welcome guest.
4. The newspaper advertisement can have as much reader interest and news value as the news items.
5. The amount of text used in newspaper advertisements is dependent only upon the size of space.
6. Newspaper advertising is flexible.
7. Newspaper advertising is quickly controlled.
8. Newspaper advertising may be adjusted to different conditions.

TWENTY FIFTH ANNIVERSARY OF THE WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

We the Raymond Women's Institute Are gathered here in May 1937 To celebrate the twenty fifth anniversary That was organized in May 1911

With Mrs. Sarah Anderson as President. She said, "I can't tell you how glad I am today To be chosen as your leader in this very splendid way.

Love you ever stopped to think What has been your guiding star in this Raymond women's Institute And really found out what you are?

We must dress up and wake up and live And all open our closet door And get our nicest dress and put it on And go out if the rain does pour.

We want no truer comrades Than the friends we've loved for years. We've laughed and told our joys And whispered of our fears.

Yes wake up! and come to the Institute. Wake up! dress up! and live! You will find each time you come You have gained something you can give.

There are some that will tell you it can't be done: Just start in to sing as you tackle the thing 'ut on your things and go to it! We have our meetings and we sure sing.

As Institute memories one by one Crade back the long years thru And warmth from golden deeds we've done Return to gladden you. Mrs. James E. Fisher.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere and heartfelt thanks to everyone who in any way assisted in the illness and death of our beloved husband and father. To the friends who assisted in the services and burial and for everything that was done, we are indeed grateful. Mrs. Joe Compton & Margaret

Rex Battle, Famous Musician

and shows the maestro concentrating on a difficult piano passage. At the Royal York Hotel, which is the largest hotel in the British Empire, Rex Battle's orchestra is a favorite among the guests, who gather in large numbers at his concerts or time him in on the individual radios in the bedrooms throughout the hotel. The orchestra has spread its fame by playing for conventions that gather at the hotel from all over the continent. The Royal York's fine facilities for this type of hotel trade attracted 75 conventions, totalling 6,000 delegates, up to the middle of March, while 45 others are scheduled to bring 11,000 delegates to the hotel from all over the country later in the year.
